Tammy Bradly

Senior Director, Clinical Strategy and Market Insights

Location: Lillian, AL

Tammy Bradly serves as the senior director of clinical product marketing at Enlyte. Leveraging over 30 years of experience spanning product development, case management, operations and clinical product marketing, Tammy has carved a niche as a distinguished expert in the field. Her expertise lies in medical case management, disability management, and the integration of health, disability, and workers' compensation, and is underpinned by national certifications including Certified Case Manager (CCM), and Certified Rehabilitation Counselor (CRC). Tammy has significantly contributed to the industry through her authorship of numerous articles and is a regular presenter at industry conferences, addressing everything from telemedicine to mental health. Tammy's leadership not only drives strategic growth within Enlyte but also embodies a commitment to enhancing service delivery and operational excellence in clinical managed care.

Areas of Expertise

Claims management, Clinical services, Mental health

©2022 Enlyte Group, LLC.