Kevin Ufier

National Director, Disability Services

Kevin Ufier, MEd, CRC, is national director of managed disability for Enlyte where he's responsible for the development, oversight and management of disability services for the Enlyte customer base, which includes long-term disability carriers, third-party administrators and employer groups.

Mr. Ufier has over 29 years of experience in the field of vocational rehabilitation with expertise in early intervention programs within the short- and long-term disability insurance industry. Prior to joining Genex in 1995, Mr. Ufier served as National Group Disability Manager at John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Ufier began his career as a Vocational Specialist with the Rehabilitation Network Corp., working directly with disabled and injured individuals to develop safe and meaningful return-to-work options. During this time he provided expert vocational testimony in litigation cases and worked closely with medical, legal and employment personnel.

Mr. Ufier holds a master's degree in counselor education and is a Certified Rehabilitation Counselor.
