Back and Neck Injuries: Treatment Options

Event Details

When: March 24, 2022 @ 2:00PM EDT On-Demand Where: Online Event Online Event

CE credit is not available for previously recorded sessions.

Neck and Back injuries make up a large percentage of the WC and Healthcare related claims treated in the orthopedic field. There are several common injuries for each group: neck and back, as well as common indicators that suggest who might suffer an injury. This course will review the common sources of neck and back pain through injury. The instructor will discuss diagnosing common neck and back injuries. A thorough review of treatment options and basic anatomy will assist the learner in making referral decisions in their Workers' Compensation and healthcare-related position.
