Ethics in Claims and Medical Case Management

Event Details

When: October 27, 2022 @ 2:00PM EDT Where: Online Event Online Event

CE credit is not available for previously recorded sessions.

In an increasingly cost-conscious environment, in which ethical standards have taken on heightened importance, claims and case managers must protect the interest of injured employees. Strong professional ethics are a critical component in gaining the trust and engagement of injured employees throughout the life of a claim. This course provides attendees with a solid foundation in standards of professional conduct and business practices in the claims and medical management industry.
