Dan Zemel

Director, Product Management

Dan Zemel is director of product management at Enlyte with a focus on third-party solutions. Zemel joined Enlyte in 2026 following nearly 20 years in claims leadership roles at two top-10 carriers. During that time, he directed large-scale casualty operations, redesigned processes in partnership with product, design, and analytics teams, and led strategic planning efforts.

With a strong focus across the third-party casualty spectrum of disciplines, Zemel brings passion and a pragmatic approach to claims innovation, continuously focusing on the balance between carrier-level and adjuster-level impact. As part of Enlyte’s casualty solutions product team, Zemel is focused on driving Enlyte's next generation of solutions.

Zemel holds a BA from Columbia College of Missouri.
