Fixing the Breakdown in Demand Evaluation

Join Enlyte for a 30-minute discussion on why even strong claims teams are seeing leakage in bodily injury claims and why it often comes down to inconsistent demand evaluation creating unnecessary financial exposure.

Dan Zemel and Mike Fricke, both with real claims experience, will bring a practical, claims-focused perspective to the conversation. Exploring where demand evaluation breaks down, how plaintiff demand tactics increase risk and what high-performing claims teams are doing differently to bring more structure, consistency and confidence without adding more work.
